DEER-CHASING DOGS REPORTED

Five Eight Prong Buck Run to Death on South Mountain. Other Stories Come in of Dogs Chasing the Deer. Hunters Alert.

There are many vicious dogs prowling the South Mountain these days in the Mont Alto and Caledonia state reserves in pursuit of deer. Jacob Shirky shot one of these out far from the Sanatorium a few days ago just as it was driving a wounded doe to a stand-still.

A splendid eight-prong buck deer was chased out of the mountains above Quincy, about eight o'clock, Tuesday morning, by a dog belonging to a resident of that section. The animal was in an exhausted condition before the hounds were called off and died in the corn field of George Walk, near Fox Hill.

The dog was called off. The buck was apparently fagged out but was so frightened that it continued running, although it fell several times. The animal continued its flight for a mile or more until it reached the Walk place, where it dropped and died from exhaustion.

Mr. Walk and his son-in-law, Roy Stem, found the carcass. The deer had bled from the nose and mouth and had several scratches on its body. Aside from this it was an excellent specimen.

Mr. Stem notified the state game authorities of the happening.

VETERANS HOME

Leaving Fairfield on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, three veterans of the Civil War, Messrs. Adam Snyder, Emanuel King and Samuel Walter, accompanied by George McGlaughlin, of Fairfield, and Maurice Shaffer, of Virginia Mills, started on a delightful motor trip through parts of Maryland and Virginia, to visit the battle grounds on which they fought during the war.

The trip was made by way of Frederick, to Washington, then along the old telegraph road to Fredericksburg, then to Richmond and from there to Petersburg, twenty two miles distant. The return trip was made through the beautiful Shenandoah Valley, by way of Winchester and Hagerstown, the party arriving home on Saturday afternoon.

The entire trip covered a distance of 572 miles. The trip was made in Mr. McGlaughlin's automobile, and the party was also accompanied by Messrs. Cosmo Walter, John Pitzer, John Weikert and William P. Weikert, of McKnightstown, in Mr. Weikert's car. The trip was highly enjoyed by all.

MORE GUIDES ARE ARRESTED

Warrants Served on Seven Hackmen by Chief of Police Emmons. Over-stepped Two Foot Limit at Reading Station.

Determined to break up the habit of boosting their business relative to endance which limits them to within five feet of the curb in soliciting business, Chief of Police Emmons Monday served warrants on seven offenders. Last week he took similar action against George J. Buchman and Thaddeus Warner, both of them paid $5.00 for their action.

These two were again brought before Justice Wolfe Monday on the same charge and five others are named. Andrew Hartman, John Hoffnagle, Morgan Mickley, Samuel Vaughn and James Weikert. Hartman and Hoffnagle appeared before the Squire Monday morning and settled by paying the costs which were and costs.

In the afternoon all the other cases were called before Squire Harnish. The first cases announced were those against Mickley, Weikert, Hartman, Vaughn and the others followed in order.

George J. Benner Esq. represented the hackmen and the borough interests were looked after by J. Benner Swope the regular solicitor.

Witnesses called included C. B. Kutzmiller, secretary to the town council, and J. C. Hoke, John Tracey, Charles Plank, Harry Holtzworth and Frank Shade, all of whom testified that the defendants had hovered over the two foot limit.

Acquitting one and finding three others guilty, while others admitted the charge preferred, Squire Harnish on Tuesday morning disposed of the cases against five hackmen, charged with being over-stepping the two foot over-stepping the two foot limit prescribed by the borough ordinance as the distance beyond which they from the curb in soliciting customers.

Thaddeus Warner was the only one of the seven, on whom warrants were served, who contested, receiving a sentence of a fine and costs. Mr. Warner at the hearing presented five or six witnesses to show that, at the time of the alleged offense, he was at his automobile and did not violate the ordinance. On this testimony he was acquitted.

Samuel Vaughn admitted his guilt before Squire Harnish and was given $2 fine and costs. George Mickley and James Weikert were found guilty by the Squire and given a similar sentence, while George J. Buchman, also found guilty, was fined $5 and costs. The fine in Mr. Buchman's case was increased owing to the fact that it was a second offense, the first having been committed only a few days prior to the one for which he was last arraigned.

It is intimated that one or more of the officers may take the matter into court. The costs have not yet been computed.

Andrew Hartman and John Hoffnagle did not stand trial before Squire Harnish but paid the costs without asking a hearing.

In Squire Harnish's court on Monday a variety of the peace was brought by Mrs. Alice Groff, of New York City, against her husband, George W. Groff, of Bonneauville, who was charged with the act being placed upon the woman. Mrs. Groff claimed that her husband had threatened to do her harm but the testimony was of the hearsay variety and the charge was not sustained.

NO NEW TRIAL FOR HANOVER

Value of Borough Sewer System as Originally Fixed Must Stand. Various Disputes in History of their Plant and Litigation.

Judge Ross of York County has decided to grant a new trial in the suit of the borough of Hanover, against the Hanover Sewer Company, for deciding the value of the sewerage system, which the borough condemnation leading over, from the company.

A jury at the time the case was heard in Court, last March, fixed the value at $113,454, which the borough authorities considered excessive, and it was to have this valuation reduced by a decree of court, that the borough asked for a new trial. The litigation is a matter of controversy, largely owing to the element of the value of the Franchise, the actual cost of the plant being much less than the amount named above.

It is said that the borough council originally granted the franchise, free of cost, for the installing of a sewerage system for house drainage, to local interests, and this franchise was transferred to subsequent owners of the Hanover Sewer Company, who built the system about 1902 or 1903.

In 1910 on the ground that the company was not earning sufficient to make it profitable a new schedule of rates was established, for sewerage connections and service, which in some cases were advanced over the rates formerly charged, the new rates being approximately in many cases double the old rates.

This action of the company resulted in a decree in favor of the borough taking control of the system, but the company had to be paid a fair valuation for its property. The Company asked $160,000, the borough offered to pay $100,000, for its plant and franchise to be paid on easy terms. This proposal was declined. The board of state appraisers, provided to make such valuations, fixed the cost at $75,000, which was not acceptable to the Company.

The borough subsequently instituted proceedings in court to have the value adjudicated, with the result as stated above.

The Hanover Sewer Company at present is controlled by Philadelphia interests.

Dr. Hudson has investigated the matter learned where the dog came from, and that it was suffering from snake or disease which made the residents think it had rabies.

The train, eastbound, was running at a fast rate when it struck an open switch. TO FORM APPLE GROWING CLUBS

Young People of Adams County to be Interested in Clubs Similar to those which Grow Corn, Potatoes and Other Things.

In an effort to interest the boys and girls of Adams County in the organization of apple clubs the United States Department of Agriculture is making a special effort of enlisting the young people for the work. All the principal apple raising districts of the country are being reached by the Department in this new scheme and the various state colleges have been asked to co-operate.

The new clubs will be organized on the same lines as are those for the encouragement of potato, corn, and alfalfa growing, gardening and canning, and pupils in the public schools are to be the members.

The rules of other years relative to the exhibiting of the products of the farm, garden and kitchen will again prevail and it will be necessary for all entrants to have their exhibits placed before the judges on the morning of the big day. The judges will begin their work immediately after.

The executive committee is busily engaged in securing competent judges and all who enter may be assured of fair treatment. As in other years no names will appear on the articles submitted for competition except the number and the names not being made public until the judges have rendered their decisions.

The marshal and his aides for the Harmert Day parade will also be held at one o'clock in the afternoon, when the decorated vehicles and floats of helpers is rapidly being filled. The names will be ready for publication in the morning. The work of the rural districts indicate that the farmers are taking to this new idea and that scores of country farms will be represented by floats, with the usual decorations of march.

The route of this parade is also being planned so as to take in all the principal parts of town and to give the spectators a good, wholesome the spectacle.

To the other entertainment features there is being much attention given. The students' parade will follow the farmers' parade and the big foot ball game with Dickinson will be consummated for now. The committee, realizes however, that attention must be paid to the other forms of sport and band concerts will be arranged for the latter part of the afternoon. The committee has assured that there will be no dull moments for them on the big day.

CONFEDERATE BOND

W. P. Stover, Littlestown, Has Interesting Souvenir of "Lost Cause."

W. P. Stover, of Littlestown, has in his possession a bond in the amount of two hundred dollars, issued by the Confederate States of America, Feb. 20, 1864, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent, payable every six months.

Four of the coupons had evidently been clipped, while the remainder are still in good condition, the paper is good grade of paper, and contains a portrait of the president of the "Lost Cause", Jefferson Davis.

The bond was originally purchased by Jacob Stover, of Littlestown, an uncle of Mr. Stover, who was private interested in the Confederacy and when the war closed was a ruined man.

Mr. Stover is one of the best-known citizens of Littlestown, he has served in the office of St. Paul's Lutheran church, that place, for almost 50 years, as janitor of the church, as a. ball for 25 years and janitor of the public school building for 14 years.

FARCE

The game of lame ball between the nines and college teams on the Karts Playground Tuesday afternoon developed into a farce and was won by the students 16 to 5. Only a small number attended and Mock had a chance pitched for the town and Hour for college.

WORKING HARD FOR BIG EVENT

Farmers' Day Committee Meets and Hatches Further Plans. Promise a Bigger and Better Premium List than in Farmer Years.

The committees having charge arrangements for Gettysburg's Farmers' Day celebration, Saturday, October 17, announce the premium list for the occasion will be ready in some forward with a remarkably generous list of awards and the people of the county, who care to enter, will find the prices for which they work well worth their time and trouble.

Some business houses, which had not gone in on the proposition in other years, were anxious to enter this year, and most of the stores added to the number of articles for which they offer prizes so that the list is longer than in either of the two preceding years.

The rules of other years relative to the exhibiting of the products of the farm, garden and kitchen will again prevail and it will be necessary for all entrants to have their exhibits placed before the judges on the morning of the big day. The judges will begin their work immediately after.

The executive committee is busily engaged in securing competent judges and all who enter may be assured of fair treatment. PLAN TO OBSERVE PEACE DAY HERE

Ministers will Preach Sermons on International Peace this Coming Sunday. Respond to Request of President. Service in Cemetery.

Gettysburg will join the nation-wide observance of "Peace Day" on Sunday, which was set apart by President Wilson as a day for the people of the United States to offer special supplications for the cessation of war and for universal peace. No union services in commemoration of the day have been planned, but it is expected that every church will take some recognition of the event. Special sermons will be preached and peace prayers offered.

Sunday, October 4, was set apart by President Wilson for this special purpose. Local clergymen and laymen in all the churches will have arranged a program that will be a fitting climax to the action of the nation's Chief Executive. From all sources it is predicted that the approaching Sabbath will witness the greatest demonstration of its kind ever made by a single religious body in a year in behalf of several other reforms that have engaged the attention of the church.

The Gettysburg Ministerial Association has not taken any action in regard to "Peace Sunday", but from what can be learned the individual pastors of the different churches are arranging appropriate services for the day in accordance with the request of President Wilson. It is hoped that the day will be observed by all local churches.

The most notable observance here will be that of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery, which will be the special servicers in the National Cemetery late Sunday Afternoon.

INTERESTING CAR

"Seeing Mexico" Car in Exhibition here on Western Maryland Track.

A Pullman car fitted up for a museum and filled with interesting exhibits of old Mexico, has reached Gettysburg on the line of the United States and Canada, and will remain until Saturday night. The car is open for exhibition from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. daily, being located on Western Maryland track, Stratton street.

The car contains a $10,000 exhibit in all, including the Pullman palace car, loaned by the Mexican Government, Dr. Frederic Madera, the National Educational Society and the National Railway of Mexico, but managed by Frederic Madera.

This attraction will prove beyond a doubt one of the most interesting and educational exhibits ever seen here. In this car can be seen the idols of Aztecs, the people that inhabited Mexico thousands of years ago; the Mexican Indian, the peon and half-breed; Mexican monkey; talking parrot and other curiosities of the people of Mexican natives, such as drawn work, leather work, basketry, pottery, Mexican silver, silver palaces, etc. In this work the natives have spent 10,000 years to get to the level of the 1908, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent, payable every six months.

Four of the coupons had evidently been clipped, while the remainder are still in good condition, the paper is good grade of paper, and contains a portrait of the president of the "Lost Cause", Jefferson Davis.

Francis J. Aumen, one of the guards in the Gettysburg National Military Park, died at 9:10 Saturday evening at his home on York street. A native of Germany, he was born while his parents were on a six weeks' journey to a port to set sail for America. For many years the family lived in the vicinity of Two Taverns and it was within the last thirty years that Mr. Aumen moved to Gettysburg. He showed no signs of illness next morning, and was in all appearances in his usual health at the dinner table. Suddenly his head dropped forward and he was seen to lean back only to find that death had come instantly and painlessly.

SWEEPING MINES FROM THE SEA A HAZARDOUS JOB.

How Trawlers, With Navvi Rearward Crews, Remove Danger to Navigation.

Among war's heroes are the mine sweepers, who daily take their lives in their hands that British warships and merchant vessels may have safe passage in the North sea.

These mine sweepers are naval reserves and their one trawlers for their business work. Every mere they make they place their lives in jeopardy, but the reserves present cowry, with scale great adventure in their business. The mine sweepers' task is a risky, one because the combat mines are very sensitive to the tremor. The slightest contact of a vessel serves to set them off, and sometimes even being danger-ous at a neutral position, as when the are caught by the wire "net" of the sweepers, will cause the mine to explode.

Not such an explosion as this is not often third. While one of these mines exploded by contact sinks a ship it usually results in destroy a dreadnaught, the force of the explosion does not carry far through the water, and mine exploding at even a short distance from a vessel does little or no harm.

Mine sweeping is done in the way. Two trawlers, one a mine sweeper, proceed in a destroyer. Each trawler drags behind her a steel hawser with a heavy iron weight on the end that drags along the bottom of the sea. These two iron weights are connected by a wire. The two trawlers are then connected by the wire, which forms the mine "net."

Several hundred yards apart the two vessels pursue parallel courses, moving slowly ahead. When there is a tangle of the wire the mine hawser they have snagged a mine. Slowly the two boats converge and the infernal machine is drawn to the surface where one shot from the nearby destroyer explodes it and one more mine are to stalging is removed.

PLAN FOR CONCERTS

Hope to Secure Kinsel Quartet for Evening here.

Gettysburg's many musical people will be glad to learn that the committee, who had in charge the Bispham concert of last season, are planning for one or more concerts of an equally high order this year. SHELL EXPLODES AFTER 51 YEARS

Missile Picked up on Gettysburg Battlefield Bursts with Terrific Force when Cap Sets off its Powder, still Active.

Using a small cap on an unexploded shell, picked up on Gettysburg's battle field 51 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Orris, a prominent farmer and business man of Westminster, Maryland County, saw the relic blown into fragments, the powder remaining in the shell still active.

Mr. Orris came into possession of the shell under circumstances that recured it from an estate of which he was a prominent executor. He became nervous about having the unexploded missile about the place and suggested over and over again whether something happened to be digging pole holes in his premises, that would explode the shell. The linemen accepted the proposition, and, digging the shell out of the hole, attached a cap to it, and then charged it with powder. The explosion was terrific and the shell was blown into fragments, and more earth was torn loose than the explosion which would have accomplished.

Many of the shells held here in town, or sold in past years to tourists, have been found in Cumberland County, and it is believed, if some effort were made to "test them off" No one was hurt in the Cumberland County man's experiment but the wisdom of horrified neighbors who thought the current was forcibly demonstrated.

SAYS THEIR LINES HOLD

Berlin Claims They Repulsed Enemy at Albert.

INDIAN TROOPS AT FRONT

70 000 British Oriental Soldiers on the Firing Line.

London, Oct. 2.—While official reports both from France and Berlin every day important changes have occurred in our battle line in France, which apparently division from Albert to Pelgelly by the allies, attacks on the junctures of the Oise and the Aisne rivers and then along the Aisne to the Argonne region and the valley of the Meuse.

At the same time unofficial reports credit the French with a slowly advance toward the north of the Somme river in an outflanking movement, that it is believed is forcing the retirement of the German right under Von Kluck.

The German version is that the allies failed to their attacks on the German forces between Albert and Combles, north of the Somme; that the Germans are slowly gaining in the Argonne district, with "no change in the situation" along the Meuse, where they are attacking the outer line of French forts between Verdun and Toul.

It is in the Toul district that the French claim to have successful in making as much progress as they have on their extreme left, north of the river Somme. Both official reports agree that there is little change in the central region between Reims and the forest of Argonne.

Both sides have been reinforced on the battle line in France. Among other troops which have come to the aid of the allies that are now on the firing ground are 70,000 native troops from India, which recently landed at Marseilles.

French Statement.

The following official statement was issued in Paris:

"There is nothing of particular importance to describe except in the region of Roye on the French left wing, twelve miles northwest of Noyon, west of the Oise, but south of the Somme), where a violent action has successfully turned in our favor, and in the Argonne, where we have made progress at several new points.

"The general situation remains satisfactory."

A communication given out later said:

"There has been no modification in the general situation. We have, never theless, made progress on our left, to the north of the Somme, and on our right, in the southern Woevre district.

German Statement.

The following official communication was issued in Berlin:

"The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Albert on town of Peronne, (twenty miles northeast of Amiens) have been repulsed. The general fighting on our right centre, the French resuming their assaults at numerous points. The fighting is in progress with great severity, but there has been no decisive gain by either side in this section.

"In Argonne our attack is progressing steadily through slowly. At the center fort on the Meuse the line is without change.

"Wednesday the enemy advanced in Alsace and Lorraine and in the region of Vosges.

"In every instance our troops have beaten back the attacks of the enemy, inflicting heavy losses. The enemy, assisted by the partisans of the Vosges-Toul line of forts, continues his efforts to prevent the complete investment of these positions, but we are holding our line intact at every point to this territory."

The war information bureau in London announced that 7500 Indian troops were landed in France last Friday. The point of landing was not revealed, but it is presumed that it troops disembarked at Marseilles.

A cablegram from Paris to Le Figaro declares that the Germans have built five bridges between Antwerp and the River Jassen between Givet and Namur, apparently to facilitate their retirement from France. All of that wounded, the dispatch says, have been removed to Brussels.

It is officially announced that the reserve territorials and men of the auxiliary service of the north of France, who were withdrawn from Hirz, have left the line in the last few days, while other wave are coming back home because they were at

American Flag Will Not Protect Contraband

State Department Makes Vigorous Protests Against Proposed Action of England.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Vigorous protest by the country against Great Britain's decision to place on the contraband category destined for Germany, America, deemed contraband, even if they are carried in American ships, is to be made conclusive at the state department between Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British ambassador, who has notified this government of Great Britain's position and Secretary of State Bryan.

As a result it was announced that Great Britain had conceded the United States contended to be far so that stuffs were concerned, and that there would be no interference with shipments of such products to Holland.

Furthermore, it revealed that the British government of its decisions like with respect to contraband, was prohibited.

President Wilson told callers that the British government has been most friendly in its attitude in the matter of possible international character in American ships and had shown willingness to discuss the question. He expressed the hope that such a satisfactory arrangement would be reached.

The state department's statement after the conference follows:

"It is understood that the British government will be ready to revise its proclamation with respect to contraband, so as to make it conform to the decisive Ex Kiel Prussia after driving the Russians back from Lodz. The third army, the third army, the third army, which has been moving across Poland, is reported to be acting and adding its weight fell against the German centre.

The Hindus are peculiarly fond of the game of cards, and they indulge in it during duration, its outstretching arms and overshadowing breadthness are a source of wonder to the Hindus. It is your their temples, and in those villages in which there is no attractive public worship they place as image on the table to represent the pastime in morning and evening sacrifice.

COUNCIL HEARS MANY MATTERS

Various Street and Sewer Questions Given Attention by Borough Councilmen. Redress's Premises to Abate Noise Nuisance.

Streets, alleys, pavements, sewers, fire plugs, and all other phases of the center of activity of the borough councilmen came up for their attention at the regular meet it was held Tuesday night.

The old question of the liability for unpaid premiums for the construction of the first block of York street, was again brought up by Borough Solicitor Swope who said Dr. Markley demand any liability for the assessments, of other citizens but had turned over $85 contributed by property owners. Council accepted the money and instructed Mr. Swope to endeavor to collect from several persons who have, as yet, not paid their share of the work done on York street.

Mr. Keith reported the offensive condition of the Tiber unabated. Other councilmen were of the opinion that nothing but heavy rains would abate the stench and remove the unpleasant odors. The borough solicitor was instructed to notify all having sewers emptying into The Tiber to disconnect at once.

Mr. Stock asked for information regarding the proposed sewer extension, a number of lots have been across government properties. Mr. Swope said he was not informed, and write to the Secretary of War asking the necessary permission. The matter has been pending for several months.

A request from Allen E. Plank for a street sprinkler was referred to property on North Stratton street was presented by Mr. Beard and carried.

Mr. Baughman reported pavements needed at the Tawney and Wansen properties in the Borough. The necessary notices had been served, it was reported, and the street committee was instructed to build the pavements.

The condition of the alley in the rear of Baltimore street, between High and Breckenridge, was referred to the highway committee.

Mr. Keith asked for a report on the placing of a fire plug at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Musselburg street. The property owner was reported that the plug was not needed and Mr. Keith insisted that it was from 1000 to 1200 feet from the plug at the corner of Washington street to the next western house on Lincoln avenue. The matter was referred back to the property committee for further investigation.

Letters were read from officials of both railroad companies, the latter asking of all notices to a minimum and, from the Reading requesting that the sidewalks be as possible of traffic at the crossings in the western end of town, by forbidding any shifting at those places.

Burgess Attorney Swope reported that there was nothing in the ordinance, prohibiting the shifting in the United Telephone Company, which would allow the borough to interfere with the matter of rates charged.

A bill of $9 for the boarding of the State police for the month of July, colored excursion was presented and ordered paid.

A compromise proposition presented by the Meris, before, for the adjustment of damages done by the Meris, in the Ridge road.

Mr. Stock, of Lot, 165 cords of slab wood, oil oak and hickory, cut in long and short lengths; also 1 lot of curved tree tops and 1 lot of curved tree tops and chunks, suitable for furniture.

Sale to commence at 1 o'clock, P. M., sharp, when a credit of 3 months will be given on all sums of $5 and upward by purchasers giving their notes with approved security. All sums under $5 cash. Positively no credit will be extended after sale.

THIRD ARTILLERY PASSED THROUGH

Three Batteries on the Way Back to Fort Myer Go through Gettysburg. Littlestown the Terminus of the Boy's March.

Gettysburg was given another touch of the military on Wednesday when Batteries D, E, and F, of the Third United States Field Artillery marched through town with full equipment on their way to York Myer. The entire composed of 300 men and they are on their way back from Fort Meade, New York.

The trip as far as Harrisburg was made by railroad, two trains of twenty three cars each being required to transport the three batteries with men and horses. When the trains rolled into the Capitol City it looked like the entrance of a small circus. On Monday night they encamped at Wormelsdorf, several miles this side of Harrisburg and Tuesday night they were near York Springs, leaving early Wednesday morning.

Preceding the artillery came a detail of eight Signal Corps men in one of the large wagons, telephones and equipped for their branch of the service. They passed through town about nine o'clock and went on to Littlestown where it will encamped.

The men have been have with them twelve 3-inch field pieces, lumbering along behind a number of two horse wagons and scores of horses. Major Dyson is in command of the batteries which contain many officers and men who have visited Gettysburg on other occasions and are well known here. It is much regretted, for this reason, that the Gettysburg did not provide for a rest stop here.

Troops I, and M of the Fifth Unites States cavalry, with their band broke camp at Gaybreak Wednesday and passed through town at 8 o'clock. They will take a different route from the artillery and will go back the way they came, by Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Frederick.

The Republican State campaigning tour came into Adams county on Tuesday, spent several hours in Gettysburg, and then left on a tour of the eastern portion of the county.

Cooper and Harry F. Lafean, candidates for congressman-at-large. They were accompanied by a number of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh newspaper men.

Original intention was that the party should visit the principal towns in the northern and western portions of the county in the morning but they were delayed in Franklin County and the portion of the trip had to be abandoned. From Chambersburg the party came to Gettysburg by automobile, and on top of the mountain, they were met by a local committee consisting of C. C. Miller, Harvey W. Baker and James Moore. Arriving here, they were escorted from Seminary Hall to the Lincoln Square, where a large crowd was present.

Dr. Brumbaugh addressed the students of the college at their morning chapel services. He was introduced by President Bixler as an alumnus, for he was granted the degree of Doctor of Laws by the institution several years ago. Dr. Brumbaugh acknowledged this graceefully and then talked for fifteen minutes on the advantages of the classical, scientific and other courses of study given at the local school.

As he was passing through the street of Abbottstown on this particular evening a young boy of that place, playfully inserted a piece of stick at the rider. SCIENCE'S LATEST POLAR WEAPONS

New Devices Carried by the Fund Shackleton Expedition.

UNIQUE MOTOR SLEDGES

Two of the Five Taken on Antarctic Quest Have Air Propellers—Enough Specially Constructed Food to Sustain Sledge Skins to Last Through the 1,700 Mile Trip.

Air propelled motor sledges mounted on fur runners like skis form the main reliance of the antarctic expedition headed by Sir Ernest Shackleton, which is now by no means the great continent that surrounds the south pole. A writer in Popular Mechanics declares that in this and many other respects the expedition is better equipped with modern devices than any previous body of polar explorers has ever been.

Details of food supply, shelter, transportation, the personal health and comfort of the members of the party have been worked out with scientific care, traced to the moorhole of northern Norway and pronounced perfect.

Five motor sledges will be taken. One of them is a fifty-five horsepower gasoline machine, another a forty-horsepower. These two have air propellers but for use against head winds they are also equipped with positive drive mechanisms in the form of toothed drums attached to the rear to enable them to bite and move. In the extremely low temperatures of the antarctic the snow becomes so loose at any time, even when sledges are moving on flat, sickle runners to prevent them from sinking.

Result of a Seven Day Test.

In a seven day test in Norway one of these air propelled sledges, carrying six men, proved another sledge weighing 400 pounds and carrying two men, at a speed of from fifteen to twenty miles an hour. Only a thirty horsepower motor was used instead of the larger motor that has since been installed, with which a speed of twenty-two miles an hour on a 10 per cent grade with three men on board has been made.

Two other sledges have the positive drive only and are expected to cover about fifty miles a day each as against the 15 to twenty of the two sledges. The engines of these are water cooled, and the cylinders are jacketed in steam cooling applicators, so that food may be boiled on the motor.

Scientifically Dog-sled Rations.

The food problem of the Shackleton expedition is a scientifically difficult one. Fuel supplies for the entire journey of the expedition Weddell sea to the pole and 900 miles from the pole on Ross sea must be taken along, whereas most polar explorers are able to make some of their fuel for use on the return journey. So a scientifically dry, wheat rusk, on which the sledges and the party have already subsisted for days at a time, has been prepared and enough of it packed in sausage skins for entire transportation to last through the 1,700 mile trip.

Each man will receive thirty six ounces of food daily, instead of the three pounds which is the average consumption. In this will be six ounces of lard, four ounces of sugar and two ounces of a mixture of dried milk, potato and cocoa. The rest of the rations consists of Brazil nuts, almonds and hazelnuts, mixed with oil and dried milk. The fat content of the ration is larger than the normal for arctic climates, since the low temperature will not allow the strain on the heart goaloring elements of the body, which can only be kept up by a normal supply of fat foods.

UNCLE SAM SOCKS ABROAD.

Patterned After the American Flag and Sold in London.

Socks patterned after the design of the American flag are on sale in London. Uncle Sam's socks were meant to emulate the idiosyncrasy of American eccentricities.

Efforts are being made to better the socks, with the exception of three rows of stars on a blue field just alone, which, it is argued by one pleasantmindedness that an passport would be needed for the wearer of such a creation. Low shoes would be worn to get the proper effect.

Russian Fitness Surprises Berlin.

"The Bimbeist," without a correspondent of the Morning Post Berlin Correspondent in Berlin, "was very much better than they were thought to be. Our hearts that on every side. From American one learn the way the men are clothed and shod is splendid. All kinds of boots are forbidden throughout the Russian army, and a strong hatred is being kept up in the soldiers."

Bread Fears Tully Rolin.

On account of the scarcity of wheat in Holland the Association of Dutch Bakers has overturned the use of a so called "tulip bread" in which one third of the flour used is made from ground tulip bulbs. The bread is said to be very nourishing and the war ministry has recommended its use for the army.

KILL! KILL! KILL! EPITOMIZES WAR

DAYS THAT DEFY IMAGINATION

Sights in Nations' Terrible Conflict Which Make the Blood Run Cold. "I Should Have Thought Men Would Have Ceased Slaughtering," Says One Soldier in Letter From the Front.

The horrors of war are brought home strikingly to the reader of the newspapers in these days of stress stored by scenes of many a personal narrative as thrilling as any ever told by a master of fiction. Here little stories recite deeds of desperate courage and improved use will the correspondent of General Sherman's famous definition of war.

"The slaughter of the wounded at Paris retreating from the Aisne show a disposition to take no prisoners, adjoritively tell the same story." said one of the soldiers.

"It broke with heavy and accurate fire on the Germans who had to retreat. It stopped about 5:30 every day, and then in the night after cover the chances, one night I couldn't count them, I was too busy. Ugh! Horrible. And still they come on, shooting each other as in a dream.

"There was no man but has his story of horror, and no other side of life, of how they were smashed day after day in the terrible struggle, of the national groaning of the wounded as they lay in the trenches over two days and nights of it and sometimes only an hour's rest.

"Huddled in the cave, wet, often with no food, we listened to the thunder of the various aphasia produced by the bombardment and the Germans with shells burging. Some were dazed and seemed to have lost their reason, and epileptic to relief, I saw no one face the inevitable without fear.

"It Was Horrible: It Was Ghastly."

"Well, I thought, what relief to be a man soldier of the Seventy-fourth Infantry regiment, Tenth corps, Ninth division.

"It was a terrible thing to have to deny that deify imagination. I wasn't never have thought men could be so. Well, I suppose it has passed but my life has been in doubt.

"It was ghastly. It was ghastly. But I have been asked for my heart again, although I am still terribly nervous. I had great fear of it. I may be called upon and this time horror may soon be over.

"None of us can do any more. Its impossible. I can't do it.

The correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph gives the following interesting paragraph:

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Mrs. Grace M. Smith. Born August 17, 1889. Died August 17, 1914. Aged 24 years.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we love is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The loom his love had given
And though the body moulders here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

Dear Grace we miss thy kind face,
Yet again we hope to meet her
When the day of life is past,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

By her son.

INTEREST KEEN IN BASE BALL

Town Fans Have Gone in Witness World Series Games. These Who could not Go Anxiously Listen in Telegraphic Reports.

Weather did not deter the fans who started to Philadelphia this morning to witness the World's Series. A few did not wait for to-day, but left yesterday with the idea that they could secure better seats by being early. Among the early birds Plank and John Breheln left in the Plank automobile at four o'clock. They were joined at Hanover by Harry Stalter's car carrying several college boys who Stalter on the early train among whom were the president and secretary of the Gettysburg club, John McDannel and H. E. Bumbaugh.

A few had made provision for tickets before they left home. Eddie Plank secured admissions for some of his friends who had made application to him. Each year the list in his name is entitled to twenty-five tickets but Eddie knows he can not go far among the friends of a popular player. Some of the Gettysburg fans this morning seemed satisfied to take a chance of securing a seat after they arrived in the city.

According to the custom of the past twenty years the Gettysburg weather was strung to the Stalimuth building and full details of the game as received by the Associated Press service. The charge by the Western Union Telegraph Company has been arranged for twenty dollars a game and this sum is being raised by voluntary subscriptions.

It was thought that the weather would prevent the game being started to-day but Shibe Park does not possess a roof and it would take has been a heavy rain, and the game would probably at two o'clock. If possible, the crowd would be prepared more enthusiastic than in former years. Several hundred people collected in front of the newspaper and all day long and all night during the course of the game. The telephone kept others informed of the progress made by the Phillies, who were unable to leave their business. Some of the Gettysburg men where Plank will pitch and all are waiting that great so the time allotted to their pleasure. Of course, no announcement has been made of the day he will be put in the game, although the opening element favors the Athletics because of their record in the series. This is an Athletic town. Most of the bets are being made on the number of runs, some either one of the teams may make.

WILL TRY TO MARKET WATER

Katelysine Springs Company Has Secured Filter for the Water and Will Try To Place It on Sale Throughout County.

After an investigation extending over a period of many months the Gettysburg Katelysine Springs Company has secured a filter that, it is said, will remove the minute quantities of objectionable vegetable matter in the Gettysburg water supply and will endeavor to market the product nationally.

While the water containing this vegetable matter has been in no way deleterious, it has been reported to the State Health Department it could not be sold as pure. In order to create a demand built upon sound business principles it had to come under the sanction of the State Department. It was easy enough to remove these objectionable matters by the use of the mineral properties essential to the medicinal value claimed for it by the company. To obtain the filter that would not remove the mineral properties which eliminated the objectionable qualities has puzzled the serious manufacturer for years, it was preached during the past year. At last a Chicago firm claims to have arrived at the solution. The firm in question is now in Gettysburg visiting the Katelysine Springs Company. They will not have to spend all of their time on this work or neglect their other duties. It will be given to the person may have will be sufficient if they spend one hour each day in their spare time. But every day must be accounted for, the share of votes and subscriptions, and every opportunity must be taken full advantage of.

And also, in entering this contest you must remember that money cannot lose. All persons who do not win a prize, will be given a big per cent. cash commission on all of the subscription money that they turn in. Everything is fair and square how little is done all are at least assured of a big return for their effort they have put forth. It is an opportunity that is offered only once in a lifetime and it is worthy of careful consideration by all.

Give this matter a little thought to-day. Call at the office and have the contest explained to you in detail and decide what you want to do, now while the contest is just starting and you have a big plenty of time to enter and have every advantage.

HOW THE VOTES ADD UP

This district includes all of the territory outside of the city of Gettysburg. At least three of the prizes must go to this district.

ATHLETICS MAY PLAY HERE

Will Play Exhibition Game if they Win the Pennant, Ira Plank Says They are Anxious to Come to Gettysburg.

Provided the Athletics win the World Series Gettysburg stands an excellent chance of being given an exhibition game on Nixon Field, some time during the week of October 19th.

The team has decided to go on a "barnstorming" trip if they have the fortune to vanquish the Boston Nationals and they are all keen to come to Gettysburg. If they should lose the World series they intend to disband until the Spring practice has from present indications sure chance of seeing the Pennant Holders has never been better. The desire to visit the Battlefield is not alone that at viewing the historic ground; Eddie Plank's home has probably more to do with the decision than all else combined. Plank is a favorite with the fans of the county, and while some of his admirers have been his guests here the majority of the team has never seen Gettysburg.

Contingent upon their winning, the Philadelphia crowd has also arranged for a game with the Gettysburg and Carlisle. It will be necessary to provide a large crowd to make it expensive here, and while no amount has been named ira Plank, who is endeavoring to arrange the trip, thinks they will not require more than $500. Given a good crowd and one accepted base ball enthusiasts, in fact, to such a degree that it would be a mistake if the game of this sort. With their athlinisions in addition to the regular. Have fans which the entire body be draw from, it should be easy to clear expenses and have a good sum left for fifty cents.

Coach O'Brien has agreed to find some other place for foot ball practice on the afternoon that may be set aside for the game. Practice on the town team has been broken up for the season, the boys all of who played during the latter part of the summer are either in town or attending Gettysburg College. Ira Plank depended upon to pitch a steady game at all times and to produce the greatest loss, especially since Hoar, who pitched the Athletics to victory in the last world series and would not likely be in condition to pitch. It is thought John Lowe will be the Athletics choice for second for the game. He is home from Gettysburg College where he played ball for the past few years and bears an excellent record.

DECIDE TO FORM AN ORGANIZATION

Clergymen from Various County Towns Met in Gettysburg Monday Afternoon and Agreed to Form a Permanent Association.

At the call of the Gettysburg Ministerial Association, the clergymen from various parts of the county gathered here on Monday afternoon to discuss matters of local interest and to take under consideration the formation of a permanent organization.

Rev. F. E. Taylor was made temporary chairman and Dr. S. S. Oyler temporary secretary. They were appointed an executive committee to call another meeting in the near future when the necessary steps will be taken looking toward the establishment of an Adams County Ministerial Association. The pastors here on Monday were all enthusiastic for the proposition and the coming meeting will see the adoption of the constitution and by-laws, the election of officers and attention to all matters of interest.

The purpose of the new organization will be to secure a greater efficiency on the part of the pulpit in dealing with local conditions, by bringing the ministers from various sections into closer touch with each other, and learning by this better contact the situations which may arise.

It is planned, among other things, to watch more carefully the political situations relative to campaigns for clean government and beneficial legislation.

Rev. C. F. Pilsts, of Bandersville, was asked to outline conditions in the county regarding the coming election, and Rev. C. W. Baker, of New Oxford, spoke earnestly for extending the work of the Anti-Saloon League. The ministers, attending the meeting, agreed to suggest to the local Anti-Saloon committee the endorsement of local and state candidates who are sanctioned by the State League.

Rev. J. M. Lutz, of Littlestown, brought to the meeting the greetings from the ministers of that place and various other sections of the county were represented.

Three Stay out All Night and are Caught Next Morning. Two are Caught but Third Makes his Escape. Had to Walk an Punishment.

When the troopers of the Fifth United States Cavalry rode into camp early one Sunday afternoon, one of their number was missing, though efforts had been made for two days to locate him. The absent soldier was one of a trio threatened with a court martial.

The trouble started in Frederick, Md., Saturday night when the troopers failed to appear in camp, and on Sunday morning it was learned that Thurmont a searching party started out looking for them. All three were located near a cafe and a chase began, the offenders distancing their pursuers.

A Frederick policeman happened to see one passing through some tall weeds and, thinking something was wrong, stopped them. Soon the pursuers came along and called on him to hold them. Two got away, however, and the policeman turned the other over to the other soldiers.

A further search was made and one of the escaped pair was captured. They were compelled to walk at the side of their horses, carrying their the hunt for the third was given up. Level officerhes were told to be on the look-out for the man.

Game plentiful is reported to have issued over 3,500 hunters licenses already and in the northern tier and mountain sections where game is found there have been comparatively few applications. VIVID STORIES OF SUBMARINE ONSET

Told by Survivors of Lost British Cruisers.

SPLENDID HEROISM SHOWN.

Men Fighting For Their Lives in the Sea After Torpedoes Deadly Work Blasted Gaping Hole in Sides of Another.—Germans Came Right Up Under Noses of Our Guns.

Survivors tells graphic stories of the destruction of the British armored cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, describing the sinking of the Cressy by German submarines as follows:

"Suddenly I heard a great crash and saw the Aboukir lurching over and going down rapidly. We came to the conclusion that she had been struck by a torpedo, and kept a sharp look-out for other craft while remaining in the assistance of the Aboukir.

"The Cressy was steaming up toward the sinking ship with the object of rescuing the crew, as we were dropping into the water, when we heard a second crash. We had no chance to settle we knew that she also had been torpedoed.

"As we drew near, some one shouted to us from the water, 'There's a submarine on our port beam!'

"We had no time to lower a gig, I took careful aim at her and she disappeared. Up came the sails as I fired my third shot and scored on the top of the conning tower.

"I ran to the stern and saw a big submarine, with her conning tower and the top of the conning tower.

"I ran to the stern and saw a big "The men standing by shouted, 'She's sinking!' We saw her lift as a wave or three as the submarine sank, and we saw the conning tower and the submarine bulged up from her, both swaying and rolling.

"After that we shot at a trawler which came 1,000 yards off and evidently a German boat in disguise, of course, we knew that she was the first shot and we bet on fire.

"We had scored on the trawler, and we had struck by one torpedo, but the damage was not so great. We thought we should have kept afloat all night. We had a beautiful piece of work on board side and made a desperate effort to keep her afloat. We had a tarpaulin put home in our engine room.

"Then he (Commander Drummond) ordered me to leave my post and come up on deck.

"We had to abandon the ship, however, and she I will say for the men, they were splendid. Drummond was killed. British sailors, and those who were with us, were splendid.

"Our captain was on the bridge, and he ordered the engineers to speak some words of encouragement to them. We had to leave the ship, and he said to I remain with the ship. I did so, and yes, and yes! I under your arm. That's the last I saw of him. Some of the stokers pick you up.

"I was in the water 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Saw Men Drowning Man.

"They were discharging torpedoes at us from the Cressy. Saw men who were drowning men. When I dropped into the water I swam to one of the boats. There were men all around me. We shouted to the Germans to come and other. I was about for four hours.

"Saw the Germans picked a lapsing the London Daily Chronicle:

"The men of the Hogue had a short in the water longer for everything from the arrival of her sister ship Cressy. Survivors agree that when they also were struck by a torpedo, the ship lurched to life and went down. An officer said that the Germans had evidently lost his jacket in the grip of a drown ing man. He was chief thought was, that the Germans had succeeded in sinking the Hogue without warning, although survivors which shortly sounds have been sounded in vain.

"Twenty-four men were saved on a raft which floated off the Hogue's deck. They were rescued after being for four hours wind in water.

"The attitude of the Germans was amazing. They must have seen on a clear day, we thought, and could see and they come right up under the noses of our guns.

WOMEN FIGHTERS' REMAINS FOUND

Be Those of Sir Walter Raleigh's Amazons.

DUG UP ANCIENT POTTERY.

Explorer Large Tells of Skeletons Exhumed at Mouth of the Amazon River—Interior Tribe Which Has Semblor Civilization Is Armed With Huge Alligator and Waffles Fish.

Returning from its South America trip in the first part of the twentieth century, we are told Sir Walter Raleigh's ship came up the river and a landing party from his ship had been attacked and one member of a stepping dose river is a swarm of women warriors, who accordingly he engaged the name Amazon for the stream.

Dr. Algot Large believes that he has rediscovered this lost tribe, among whom the tradition of a female ruler was borne entirely by the female. Dr. Large has recently returned from a second voyage of exploration through the almost virgin forest of the Amazon, eighteen months ago as a tour of investigation for the Museum of Ethnography. He was commissioned by the Museum to make ethnological and zoo. investigations and reports. Arriving at the mouth of the Amazon he made his way to the mouth of the Amazon and began the investigation of the population

Never Saw a White Man Before.

At the headwaters of the Mojos, one tributary of the Amazon, he found his interior tribe, the Arauwkawes Indians, a people who numbered a very small group of 500 or more stark and savages, who never saw a white man before and stood in terror of the white man and his agents.

"The most significant thing about the tribe," said Dr. Large, "was the entire absence of the use of the bow and arrow."

The Arauwkawes treated the as fierce as best they know how and fled. We are the first white men that was over, searching him first the ways of the beautiful Amazon and discovered to him the wonderful woods to be found in Brazil.

The most interesting of Dr Large's discoveries was the exhumation of the Amazon, on a big, flat island, beneath the dense forest of which the city of Omaca was wasted over by the sea in the 16th century. The island is about 12 miles long by 100 miles. The Amazon at this point is 100 miles wide, the tide rolls in, has built the island there and has gradually covered the city with peats, and the sea, fighting to hold its own, has been covering the island ever as the river inlets it.

Amazon Race in American.

"The Amazon is a race in American, a race larger out of the water," Dr. Large said, adding that it is high time it shrinks considerably, and when the waters of the Amazon are drained it is a mere for the mounds, on one of which shortly after the sea left it, he found these I excavated pretty thoroughly and found a race of people, a race of tribe which has struck me as distinctly Asiatic.

"Moreover, the pottery I dug up resembled the pottery of Asia and of these people." Dr. Large said in show ing his discoveries, pottery, bracelets, rings, ornaments and kitchen utensils. The ornaments of the dead were unusual. They must have seen on a clear day, we thought, and could see and they come right up under the noses of our guns.

LITTLE CHILD SHOOTS FATHER

Tragic Accident Near Thurmont on Sunday when Young Boy Fires Bullet through Door. Bullet Penetrates Father's Skull.

A sad tragedy occurred near Thurmont on Sunday when Charles Hahn, aged 11, accidently shot and killed his father. The child was playing with some guns when the accident occurred.

The father and son were visiting at the home of Mr. Hahn's father-in-law, George Powell. The bullet struck the father's head just above the eyes and lodged in the brain. He died two hours after being shot while arrangements were being made to have him removed to the Frederick City Hospital.

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the Powell home. The boy had been ordered to stay away from the guns, but he picked up several balls and the attention was being paid to him, and aimed at his father his hands on a .32-caliber rat rifle in the hands of his father and pulled the trigger, the bullet going through the open doorway and striking him.

The members of the family hearing the report, and seeing Hahn with his hands to his head, did not realize just what had happened. Hahn topped and fell from his chair at the breakfast table. Dr. W. A. Brady, of Thurmont, was called, and Dr. Hahn unconscious. Death came before he could be moved. Hahn is survived by his father.

The Hahn family are residents of Union Bridge.

FAMOUS MILITARY COMMAND HERE

Ancient and Honorable Artillery with Fifth Massachusetts Band Visits Gettysburg, Held Peace Services in National Cemetery.

Headed by the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment Band, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston marched through the streets of Gettysburg Sunday afternoon to inspiring martial music in the opening feature of the 143rd anniversary of the organization. The famous command, which left Boston Saturday morning, arrived in their private train over the Western Maryland at half past four o'clock and was immediately formed.

Captain James D. Coady, Charlestown, in command, with his staff officers led the line of march, the band following and then the line, line of members, the majority of them in their handsome regulation uniforms. Here and there in the column, the Ancient Artillery marched with swords, showing its wearer to belong to one of the orders of knighthood, with examinations in the city of Boston, or the State of Massachusetts for the Ancient Artillery Association, membership to wear any regulation uniform.

The music ceased when the gates of the National Cemetery were opened and, with slow and stately tread, the noted command marched to the Soldiers' Lot, in the cemetery, where Captain Coady formed his men in the form of a hollow square and the dress was made by Hon. George J. Bauer, who was chosen to convey the greetings of the town.

Peace was announced as the keynote of the service, in accordance with the request of President Wilson. The Ancient Artillery marched in the form of a hollow square, in the shape of a letter "U" and the chaplain, Rev. Dr. Frederick Lynch, of Montclair, N. J., who called attention to the Ancient Artillery as one of the country's oldest military companies, said that it was fitting that it be the most famous battlefield of the United States on Peace Day. In the battle of Gettysburg, he said, was the theory of disarmament as one of folly and what other sacrifices of life could be secured only by the existence of a force which would prevent the interference with peace by nations. A pleasant incident of the occasion was the visit to the field of Colonel Stover's speech when Mr. Bauer of Gettysburg presented a bouquet to the rostrum and presented the men with a bouquet of home grown flowers.

"The Star Spangled Banner", by the band, closed the afternoon's exercises and the return to town was at once taken up, the members of the visitors going to their headquarters at Hotel Gettysburg, upon being formally dismissed by Captain Coady, member staying at the Eagle Hotel.

The Ancient Artillery Band and Band gave a delightful two hours' concert in Gettysburg, which was enjoyed by a large number of local people.

PEACE PRAYERS SUGGESTED FOR CHURCH SERVICES OCT. 4

Petitions to the Almighty to Put an End to War in Europe.

Day Set For That Purpose by President Wilson in Proclamation.

PRESIDENT WILSON having issued a proclamation appointing Sunday, Oct. 4, as a day of prayer and requested "all God fearing people of the nation to, in respective places of worship in supplication to Almighty God, that peace may soon come again to the nations now at war, and that the God of our fathers may bless the efforts to bring about a lasting peace in our time. O God, Ghee Lord of Hosts, be with those who are in authority in the nations at war, that they may feel that the president's proclamation be not a mere church and that the whole day be given to intercession for the purpose entered by the president.

Among the prayers for peace suggested for use on that day is this one by Bishop David H. Greer of New York:

O God, who hast made of one blood all nations of men, and who desiredst not the death of any man, but rather that they should live and be saved, we humbly beseech Thee for all sorts and conditions of men; that Thou wouldst be merciful to all, that Thou wouldst succor them that be in trouble, and succor them that be in danger, that Thou wouldst have compassion upon all prisoners and captives, that Thou wouldst be merciful to all women in travail, that Thou wouldst be merciful to all children, that Thou wouldst be merciful to all men, that Thou wouldst be merciful to all men in sickness, in sorrow, in poverty, in imprisonment, in danger, in hunger, in cold, in heat, in age, in infancy, in all our adversities, in all our joys, in all our doings, in all our sufferings, in all our pleasures, in our beginnings, in our endings, in our whole course of life, we beseech Thee, hear us, good Lord. Grant us Thy peace, Lord, all the days of our life, that we may be at peace with Thee, and have no fear of our enemies, that we may be at peace with our own hearts, and have no fear of our neighbors, and that we may be at peace with our neighbors, and so fulfill Thy blessed promise, saying, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." We ask all in his name and for his sake. Amen.

"Break Thou the Spell."

Walter Rauschenbusch, in prayers of the Social Awakening:

Lord God, we have been so long accustomed to see from the ground that God made all men of one blood, and that Christ died for the blood of men shed by his brothers' hands, that we have lost the sense of the horror of war. Over the pride of kings, over the commercial greed of nations, over the patriotic passions of the slaughter. Over the scoop of the paper and the cry of the crowd, over the cowardly fear of the neighbor nation, over the pleasure of the people, over the sneer of the cynic, over the sophistry of the scholar, over the cant of the statesman, over the hypocrisy of the church, over the silence of the pulpit, over the cowardice of the press
